Rand McNally World Atlas is filled with updated, high-impact information about the countries of the world and every U.S. state. Teachers can build engaging lessons with up-to-date information and students can research the latest stats on population, GDP, major imports and exports, and a wide range of other facts. Reports and presentations have never been simpler.

Dynamic Mapping and Cross-Curricular Content from the Most Trusted Name In Education

Rand McNally World Atlas is filled with updated, high-impact information about the countries of the world and every U.S. state. Teachers can build engaging lessons with up-to-date information and students can research the latest stats on population, GDP, major imports and exports, and a wide range of other facts. Reports and presentations have never been simpler.

Beautiful, Interactive Maps

Bring lessons to life with professionally-designed maps and data layers! Our dynamic platform allows teachers and students to create, draw on, annotate, and share custom maps.

Integrated Lesson Plans

Develop cross-curricular lessons to support students’ critical thinking and map skills. Each lesson is standards-aligned and can be downloaded, edited, and saved.

Easy to Use & Collaborate

Create individual accounts for all your students. They can combine maps and layers, save them, add annotations then collaborate and share with other students. Teachers can share with their students, and students with their teacher.

World Atlas stays up-to-date

World Atlas is extremely informationally-driven and would be so helpful for teachers. Our textbooks go out of date quickly, but World Atlas would be our source for updated content.

— Assistant Superintendent, North Carolina

Custom dynamic maps make it easy

The interactive maps and customization abilities are wonderful. This will make life easier for teachers, and students will enjoy creating them.

— Assistant Superintendent, Illinois

What you need to support teachers

Our teachers want labeled maps of every country, and blank outline maps for practice and assessment. World Atlas has what we need to support teachers.

— Social Studies Department Chair, Massachusetts

To replace your new spring assembly you will need the following:

1. Hammer
2. Straight Edge
3. Screwdriver
4. Vice Grips

Step 1: Take notice of how the roller fits inside the backboard and is held in place by two pins (one round and one square). Insert the screwdriver between the square end and the roller and pop the roller out of the backboard. Please pay close attention to how the spring fits in the roller as you take it out!

Step 2: Place a straight edge screwdriver in the largest groove of the roller. Lightly tap the old spring out with a hammer. Remove old spring.

Step 3: Insert the new spring by placing the plastic pin end cap onto the lock seam of the roller. Slide the spring into roller and then turn spring so that the small gap on the metal end of the spring fits over the large seam of the roller. Lightly tap new spring onto roller with a hammer.

Step 4: To put tension back into the spring so your map rolls up and down properly, you will need to use your vice grips. Please hold vice grips firmly and clamp on the square metal tip of the spring that has a large engraved arrow on it. Make sure engraved arrow is facing up toward you and turn the metal tip a full 360 degrees. This is how much tension (or turns) you will need for your map:

- 3 map set=25 turns
- 2 map set=18 turns
- 1 map set=15 turns

Step 5: Insert your roller back into the metal backboard by placing the round end of the roller into the bracket that has the circle in it. Use the screwdriver to apply pressure, while inserting the square pin end into the bracket which has the square hole in it. Make sure the large engraved arrow is still pointing up toward you.
